a) correlation between liabilities to the client title and the transfer financial collateral arrangement should be weak, and that the probability of default on the client's part is low or negligible;

b) the value of funds and financial instrument covered by the title transfer financial collateral arrangement should be considerably higher (or unlimited) than the client's obligation;

c) the client's funds and financial instrument covered by the title transfer financial collateral arrangement should be sufficiently high, irrespective of the number and the types of individual agreements.

(2) Investment firms are required to maintain an institution-specific countercyclical capital buffer calculated on an individual or consolidated basis - as provided for in Part One, Title II of Regulation 575/2013/EU - comprised of Common Equity Tier 1 capital equal to their total risk exposure amount multiplied by the countercyclical capital buffer.

(3) The countercyclical capital buffer rate shall consist of the weighted average of the countercyclical buffer rates that apply in the jurisdictions where the relevant credit risk exposures of the investment firm are located.

(4) In calculating the weighted average referred to in Subsection (3), the investment firm shall apply to each applicable countercyclical buffer rate its total own funds requirements for credit risk that relates to the material credit exposures in the territory in question, divided by its total own funds requirements for credit risk that relates to all of its relevant credit exposures.

(5) The relevant credit exposures referred to in Subsection (4) shall include all those exposure classes referred to in points g)-q) of Article 112 of Regulation 575/2013/EU, that are subject to:

- a*) own funds requirements for credit risk;
- b*) where the exposure is held in the trading book, own funds requirements for specific position risk or incremental default and migration risk; or
- c*) own funds requirements for securitization.

(6) The countercyclical buffer rate may be set by the MNB acting within its macro-prudential function up to 2.5 per cent of the total risk exposure amount calculated in accordance with Article 92(3) of Regulation 575/2013/EU for investment firms established in Hungary, having regard to the exposures of such investment firms to counterparties located in Hungary, where such rate shall be:

(7) By way of derogation from Subsection (6), the MNB acting within its macro-prudential function may set a countercyclical buffer rate in excess of 2.5 per cent of the total risk exposure amount for investment firms, if the loan-to-deposit ratio is significant or the macroeconomic environment is showing negative signs in addition to unfavorable developments in the loan-to-GDP ratio.

(8) The Authority may exempt small and medium-sized investment firms from the institution-specific countercyclical capital buffer requirement set out in Subsection (1) if such an exemption does not threaten the stability of the financial intermediary system. The Authority shall notify the competent authorities of the EEA Member States concerned about the exemption.

*Section 110/C*⁴⁴⁹

⁴⁴⁷ Enacted by Section 96 of Act CCXXXVI of 2013, effective as of 1 January 2014.

⁴⁴⁸ Enacted by Section 96 of Act CCXXXVI of 2013, effective as of 1 January 2014.

(1) If the designated authority of the EEA Member State where the investment firm operates has set a countercyclical buffer rate not exceeding 2.5 per cent of the total risk exposure amount, the MNB, acting within its macro-prudential function, may order the investment firm in question to apply - in determining the institution-specific countercyclical capital buffer - the countercyclical capital buffer rate set by the designated authority of the EEA Member State in respect of its exposures to counterparties located in that EEA Member State.

(2) If the designated authority of a third country where the investment firm operates has set a countercyclical buffer rate or an equivalent capital requirement not exceeding 2.5 per cent of the total risk exposure amount, the MNB, acting within its macro-prudential function, may order the investment firm in question to apply - in determining the institution-specific countercyclical capital buffer - the countercyclical capital buffer rate set by the designated authority of the third country in respect of its exposures to counterparties located in that third country.

(3) If the designated authority of a third country where the investment firm operates has set a countercyclical buffer rate not exceeding 2.5 per cent of the total risk exposure amount, however, the MNB, acting within its macro-prudential function, considers that such rate is not sufficient to protect the investment firm appropriately from the risks of excessive credit growth in that country, the MNB, acting within its macro-prudential function, may set a higher countercyclical capital buffer rate. The MNB, acting within its macro-prudential function, may order the investment firm to apply - in determining the institution-specific countercyclical capital buffer - the higher countercyclical capital buffer rate it has set in respect of its exposures to counterparties located in the third country in question.

(4) If the designated authority of an EEA Member State or a third country where the investment firm operates has set a countercyclical buffer rate in excess of 2.5 per cent of the total risk exposure amount, the MNB, acting within its macro-prudential function, may order the investment firm in question to apply the countercyclical capital buffer:

a) at the rate established by the designated authority of the Member State or the third country where pursuing lending activities, or

b) at the rate of 2.5 per cent, in determining the institution-specific countercyclical capital buffer in respect of its exposures to counterparties located in that EEA Member State or third country.

(5) If the designated authority of a third country where the investment firm operates has not set a countercyclical buffer rate, the MNB, acting within its macro-prudential function, may set the countercyclical capital buffer rate in respect of the investment firm's exposures to counterparties located in that third country.

(5) The information pertaining to the identification methodology for global and other systemically important investment firms is confidential.

(6) Before setting or resetting capital buffers under Subsection (1) in respect of other systemically important investment firms, the MNB, acting within its macro-prudential function, shall notify the competent and designated authorities of the Member States concerned one month before the publication of the resolution thereof, describing in detail:

- a)* the justification for why the capital buffer is considered likely to be effective and proportionate to mitigate the systemic risks of other systemically important investment firms;
- b)* an assessment of the likely impact of the capital buffer on the internal market;
- c)* the capital buffer rate for other systemically important investment firms.

(7) Global systemically important investment firms are required to maintain capital buffer for an investment firm that is considered a global systemically important institution on a consolidated basis in addition to the own funds requirement imposed by Article 92 of Regulation 575/2013/EU, and to the capital conservation buffer, institution-specific countercyclical capital buffer and the extra capital requirement imposed in the framework of a supervisory review.

(8) Investment firms shall maintain the capital buffers referred to in Subsection (7) comprised of Common Equity Tier 1 capital, in an amount corresponding to the sub-category to which the global systemically important investment firm is allocated in accordance with Subsection (9).

(9) The MNB, acting within its macro-prudential function, shall allocate global systemically important investment firms in at least five sub-categories. The cut-off scores between adjacent sub-categories shall be defined clearly. The lowest sub-category shall contain the investment firms which are considered the least important systemically important, with the proviso that there is a constant linear increase of systemic significance. The MNB, acting within its macro-prudential function, shall review the sub-categories of investment firms annually.

(10) The investment firms allocated to the lowest sub-category shall maintain a capital buffer of 1 per cent of the total risk exposure amount calculated in accordance with Article 92 of Regulation 575/2013/EU for global systemically important investment firms. The buffer assigned to each sub-category shall increase in gradients of 0.5 per cent up to and including the fourth sub-category, with the proviso that the investment firms allocated to the highest sub-category shall be subject to a buffer of 3.5 per cent.

(11) Without prejudice to the exercise of sound supervisory judgment, the MNB, acting within its macro-prudential function:

a) may re-allocate a global systemically important investment firm from a lower sub-category to a higher sub-category; and

b) may allocate an investment firm that has an overall score that is lower than the cut-off score of the lowest sub-category to that sub-category or to a higher sub-category, thereby designating it as a global systemically important investment firm.

Section 110/E⁴⁵²

(1) Other systemically important investment firms are required to maintain capital buffer - as provided for in the MNB Act - for an other systemically important investment firm on an individual, sub-consolidated or consolidated basis in addition to the own funds requirement imposed by Article 92 of Regulation 575/2013/EU, and to the capital conservation buffer, countercyclical capital buffer and the extra capital requirement imposed in the framework of a supervisory review.

(2) The capital buffer referred to in Subsection (1) shall consist of Common Equity Tier 1 capital, the rate of which shall be determined by the MNB, acting within its macro-prudential function, in accordance with what is contained in Subsection (3).

(3) The capital buffer referred to in Subsection (1) shall be maintained up to 2 per cent of the total risk exposure amount calculated in accordance with Article 92 of Regulation 575/2013/EU, with the proviso that:

a) the capital buffer must not entail disproportionate adverse effects on the whole or parts of the financial intermediary system of other EEA Member States or of the EEA Member States as a whole;

b) the capital buffer rate must be reviewed by the MNB, acting within its macro-prudential function, at least annually.

Section 110/F⁴⁵³

(3) Position limits shall not apply to positions held by or on behalf of a non-financial counterparty - defined in Point 9 of Article 2 of Regulation (EU) No. 648/2012 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 4 July 2012 on OTC derivatives, central counterparties and trade repositories - and which are established on the basis of objectively measurable data as reducing risks directly relating to the commercial activity of that non-financial counterparty.

(4) The Authority shall review position limits where there is a significant change in deliverable supply or open interest or any other significant change on the market. Based on its determination of deliverable supply and open interest, the Authority shall reset the position limit in accordance with the methodology for calculation developed by the European Securities and Markets Authority.

(5) The position limits shall be transparent and non-discriminatory, specifying how they apply to persons and taking account of the nature and composition of market participants and of the use they make of the contracts submitted to trading.

(6) The Authority shall notify the European Securities and Markets Authority of the exact position limits it intends to set in accordance with the methodology for calculation established by the European Securities and Markets Authority.

(7) If the Authority receives an opinion from the European Securities and Markets Authority requesting the modification of position limits within two months from the time of notification under Subsection (6), the Authority shall modify the position limits, or provide the European Securities and Markets Authority with justification why the change is considered to be unnecessary. If the Authority and the competent supervisory authorities do not agree, the supervisory authorities concerned shall state in writing the full and detailed reasons why they consider that the requirements laid down in Subsections (1) and (2) are not met. (12) The Authority shall publish on its website the details of the more restrictive position limits, which shall be valid for an initial period not exceeding six months from the date of their publication on the website. The more restrictive position limits may be renewed for further periods not exceeding six months at a time if the grounds for the restriction continue to be applicable.

(13) The Authority shall notify the European Securities and Markets Authority if it decides to impose more restrictive position limits. The notification shall include a justification for the more restrictive position limits.

(15) The Authority may apply its powers to impose sanctions for the infringements of position limits set in accordance with this Section to:

b) systemic risks that an investment firm poses to the financial intermediary system; and
c) risks revealed by stress testing taking into account the nature, scale and complexity of an investment firm's activities.

(5) In addition to credit, market and operational risks, the review and evaluation shall also cover:

l) the exposure of investment firms to the risk of excessive leverage, and the adequacy of the arrangements, strategies, processes and mechanisms implemented to manage the risk of excessive leverage; and

(10) In the review and evaluation the Authority shall monitor whether an investment firm has provided implicit support to a securitization. (11) The Authority shall establish the frequency and intensity of the review and evaluation having regard to the size, systemic importance, nature, scale and complexity of the activities of the investment firm concerned and taking into account the principle of proportionality.
